By now one might be wondering what all of these things have in common and what are they doing in a Grace College yearbook? These are just a few fads, shows, styles, and trends that have come and gone, are here to stay, or are back again.

This year the Heritage staff wanted to help celebrate the first 50 years of Grace Schools along with everyone else on campus, in the community, and across the States. Normally a yearbook is dedicated to someone or has a set theme. This year the Heritage took a different turn. Our way of helping celebrate is by taking a look back at some of the history and past moments of Grace and to refresh some memories or give new information to the minds of our readers.

Grace College also took some new turns of its own. This year is a double celebration of the anniversary and the inauguration of Grace Schools' fourth president. Dr. John J. Davis took over the reigns as President after Dr. Homer A. Kent, Jr. stepped down to continue teaching in the seminary.

It's a new time, but a time for reflection and memories. Too ofen alumni, current students, and even faculty and staff take Grace for granted. But now is the time to thank God for His blessing on the school.

Grace College, as the Collegiate Division of Grace Theology Seminary, opened its doors to the first students in September, 1948. Thirty-two students became educational pioneers in the real sense of the word.

Students in the Collegiate Division were known as First Year Collegiates and Second Year Collegiates. Not until 1953 were the classifications of freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors used.

The first president, Dr. Alva J. McClain, founder of Grace Seminary, resigned after 25 years of dedicated work in 1962. Dr. Herman A. Hoyt became the second president of Grace Schools, and Dr. Homer A. Kent, Jr. was the third.

The first curriculum offered by the collegiate division allowed for no electives. Each semester consisted of 16 hours, including four hours of Greek. All other courses were three hours each. Grace College students obtained their own living facilities in Winona Lake from 1948 to 1953. Many girls lived on the third floor of the Westminster Hotel (now the International Friendship House). Room and board cost $15.00 a week.

Alpha Hall opened in 1964. Originally, the first floor housed the dining commons, the next two floors contained rooms for women, and the fourth level was for the men. Beta Hall was formally dedicated in 1966.

In 1948-52, the Physical Education and athletic program of Grace was in embryo form. Professor Wayne Snider was teaching the men's physical education classes in very limited facilities. In 1955, Richard Messner was appointed Director of Athletics. Several trips to the east coast were arranged and the "Grace Ambassadors" earned the reputation of an excellent basketball team.

After considering "Falcons," "Eagles," and various other names, the nickname "Lancers" was finally chosen. The colors red and white were arbitrarily picked by the coach and athletic director.

After looking at some of the historic facts about Grace, what is planned for the future? This year was one of transition, not only in the Presidency but also in the school itself. Dr. James E. Bowling assumed the leadership of the Education Department. This year also produced the announcement of remodeling plans on campus and plans for the seminary division in Long Beach, California. The year also brought to light plans and action for better public relations in the community.

Grace students had a number of ways in helping out the people nearby. Student Body President Todd Davis created Fall Fest in which students were able to help paint houses, do lawn work, and shovel gravel. Next came Heart of the Holidays where students donated clothing, food, and much time to help the not-so-fortunate at Christmastime.

Many lives were touched by the students who participated in the activities. Whether it was letting a little child open a Christmas present or helping a family paint their home, many community people realized that Grace students are more than just a group of young people who invade their town during the school year.

Grace Schools continue to thrive as time marches on. From poodle skirts to Nehru jackets to the Outback look ... from Bill Haley and the Comets to the Beatles to J2 ... from Eisenhower to Nixon to Reagan ... from manual typewriters to electric ones to computer word processors ... Grace has continued.

The years have been filled with struggles and elations. They have certainly been filled with change. What has kept Grace going? Support — prayer support and financial support from concerned Christians have sustained Grace through the years.

God's blessing on the school is evident. The firm conviction that God's Word is Truth and unerring is Grace's foundation. And God has blessed.

Through the trends that have swept the Christian world, Grace has remained faithful to God's Word. That has not changed. Students continue to join the Grace family because of that fact.

Opportunities to learn more about God's Word and to put into practice what is learned is a big part of Grace's appeal. Grace's 1986-87 year verse sums it up: "Now, therefore, fear the Lord, and serve Him in sincerity and truth" Joshua 24:14a.

The 1986-87 Heritage is proud to be part of the history of Grace Schools. It's a reminder of what Grace is all about.

Yes, Grace is filled with memories of the past and hopes for the future. But most importantly, Grace is filled with people — alumni, current students, faculty and staff (past and present), and concerned supporters.

That's what memories are made of — people.

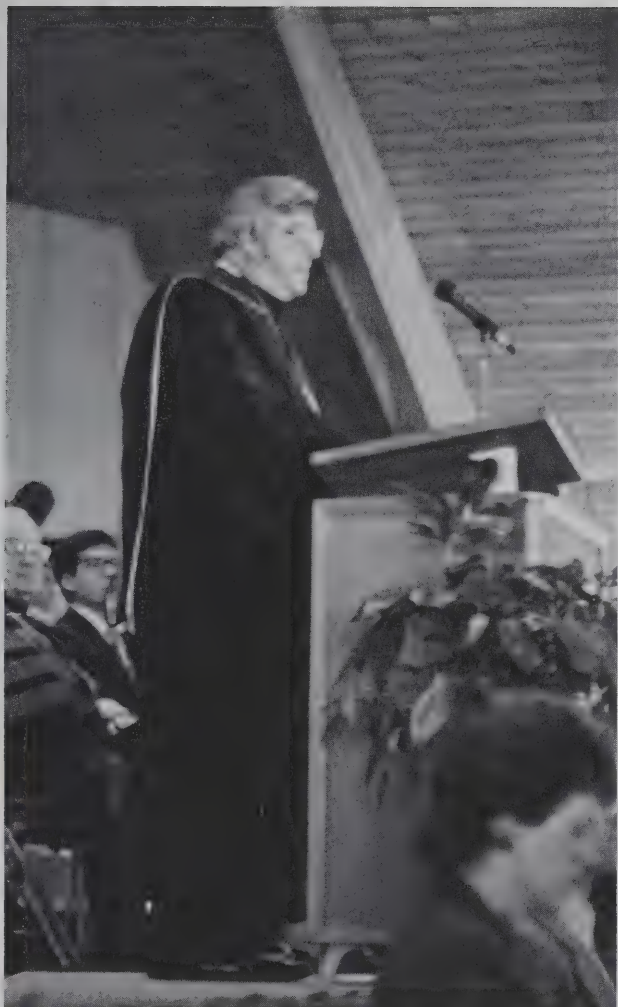

FACES

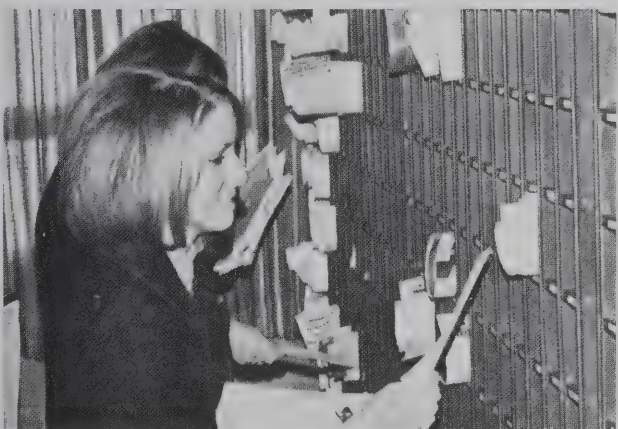

A smile here, a grimace there, a look of consternation or thoughtfulness. Students' faces are the most common sight on Grace's campus. Faces from the past or present are all a part of Grace.

Many of these faces are second or third generation faces from a family. Like their relatives who attended Grace, they came to receive an education in a Christian setting with a Christian perspective.

CAMPUS LIFE

Top: Dr. John Davis is inaugurated as the fourth President of Grace Schools to start off our Homecoming weekend.

Middle: Through rain, sleet, and snow Jane Ryerson delivers the mail. Taken from the 1971 HERITAGE.

Bottom: Dwight Baker, Phil Dick, Rick Auxt and Roger Peugh meet together on Monday nights for one of the boys' prayer groups. Taken from the 1964 GRACE.

On Friday, October 10, 1986, the Inauguration for the fourth President of Grace Schools took place. The Presidential Inauguration of Dr. John Davis consisted of a formal ceremony at Rodeheaver Auditorium.

Because the 1986-87 school year was also the 50th anniversary of Grace, the Inauguration of Dr. Davis ushered in a whole new era for the college and seminary.

The desire Dr. Davis holds for his administration is to emphasize the local, national, and global outreach to the lost world. This goal is to be accomplished by training students spiritually, intellectually, and socially so that they will be well equipped to think and live a Christian life which will bring honor and glory to God.

Inauguration

"I think the potential impact of Grace Schools is absolutely staggering," Dr. John Davis says. "It is enormous."

Dr. Davis has an vast vision for Grace. His vision is founded in the Word of God.

At Grace Schools, Dr. Davis has served in numerous positions: seminary professor for 21 years; Director of Admissions, four years; Executive Vice President, six years. His other jobs have included pastor, dean of the Near East Institute of Archaeology, writer, broadcaster, and fisherman. He has served as a translator and contributor to the New International Version of the Bible. And he's concerned about evangelism. That's quite a resume.

Yet, Dr. Davis is a man greatly involved in his community. He is well known and respected at Breeding's Cigar Store or the Humpty-Dumpty Restaurant. Dr. Davis is concerned about people and that's what his vision is all about.

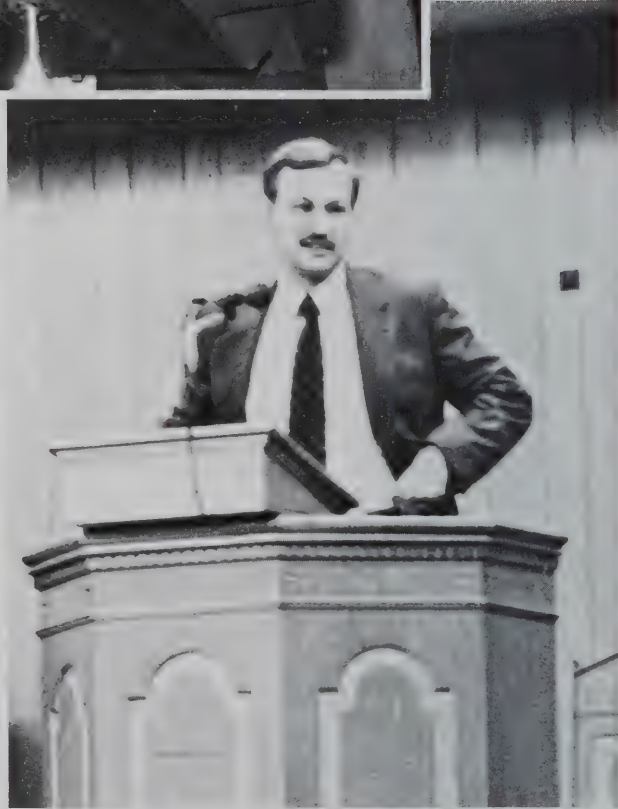

Other page: Dr. Davis challenges the students, faculty, staff, and friends of Grace Schools to strive for excellence for Jesus Christ. He wears the Presidential medallion of Grace Schools.

Chapel

Top: Chaplain Joe Bishop gives one of his last campus focuses of the year and of his career at Grace College.

Left: During chapel there is a lot of student leading as well as participation. John Averill leads music along with a solo or two on his guitar.

Right: The students enjoy a variety of different speakers, slides and film presentations for chapel.

Chapels at Grace are taken very seriously. The main focus, as is with all things on Grace campus, is God centered. Many schools are making chapels and Bible studies optional, whereas here, though mandatory, are looked forward to by students as a time of spiritual awakening and growth as shown to us by a number of speakers.

Campus Life

Life at Grace can be fun as well as work. Whether the sun is shining and everyone is outside catching the rays or the snow is falling and students crowd in to warm up, there is always something to do. Grace may not have one of the most up-to-date campuses, but it's people that makes it a great place to be.

Dorm Life

From practical jokes to fire drills, the only thing Grace students can expect is the unexpected. There are times spent in the dorm you would rather forget — like those nights you spent cramming for finals or that paper you put off until the last minute and then stayed up all night in Alpha lobby to type it. Through the joys and the agonies, good relationships are made strong with the other members of your dorm.

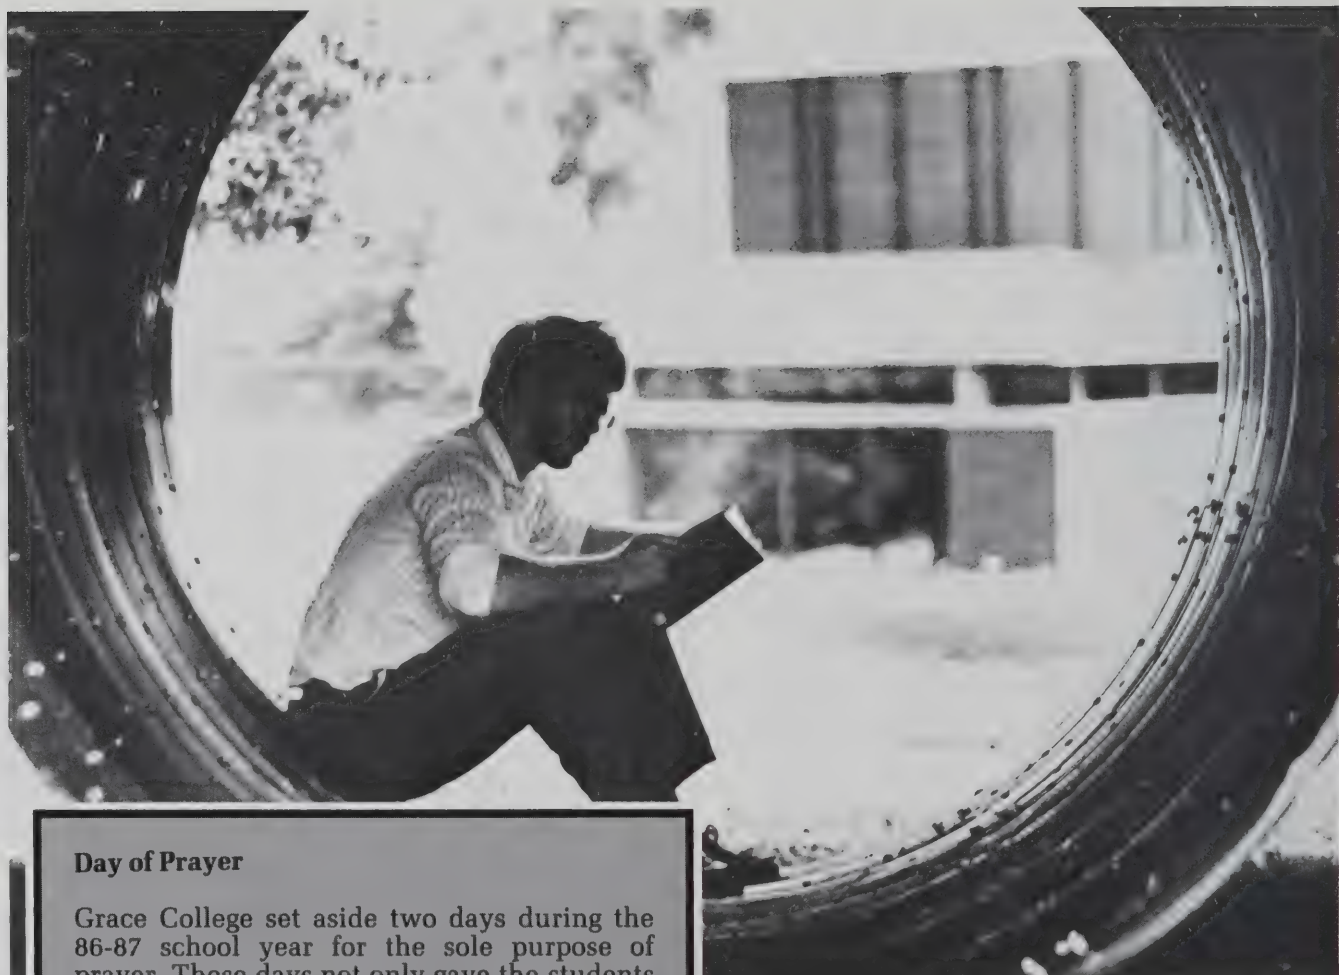

There are also those evenings when the mess is swept under the bed, the desk is straightened and the door is opened to welcome visitors to “open dorms.” But once you have created the positive false impression, said your good-byes, shut your door, and dragged out your mess to resume its usual position, dorm life can go on as normal.

Grace has Class!

Colleges exist for the main purpose of instructing students and training them for future occupations. Consequently, a good portion of a student's day at Grace is spent attending classes and learning various aspects needed for whatever occupation a student desires. From the general education classes to courses in a specific major, classes at Grace are special. This is because they are taught from the perspective of teachers who know Christ and who care for students as individuals. Many students find that the professors are very willing to take time out of their schedule just to sit and talk. Some of the students even consider a professor one of their closest friends. Yes, the professors at Grace are very caring and even make the classes interesting.

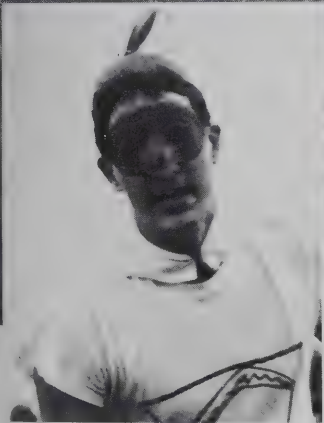

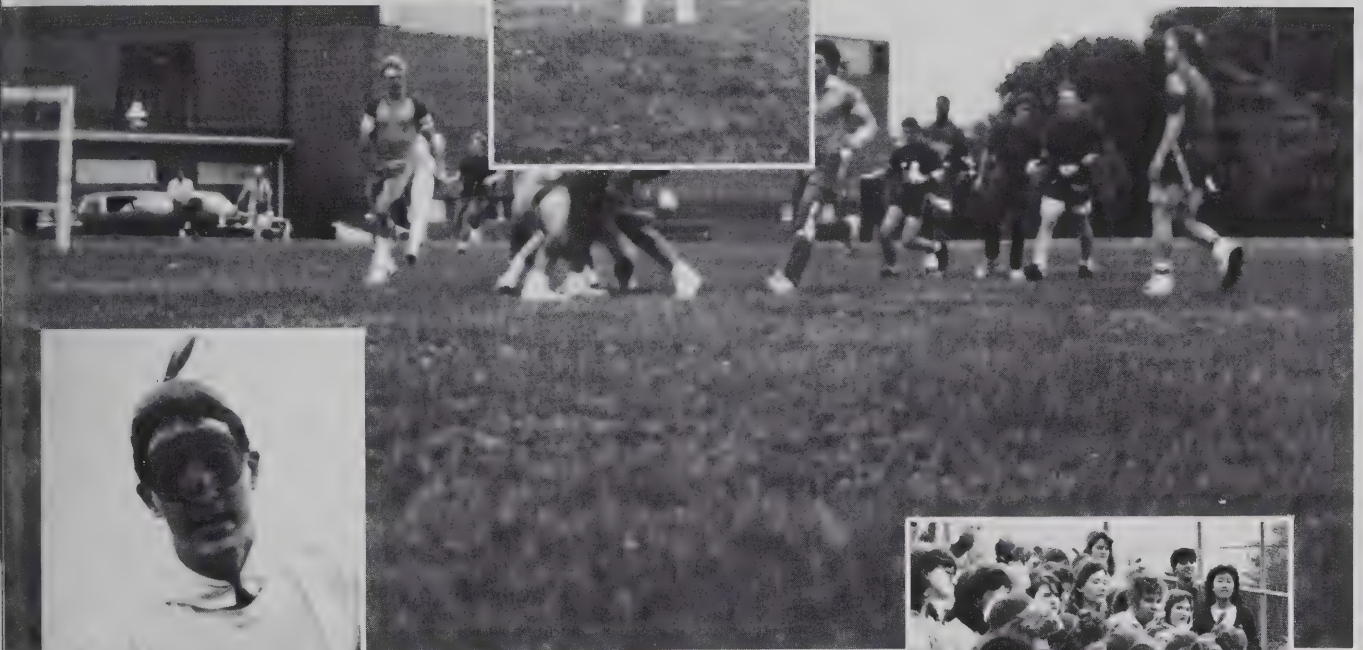

Day of Prayer

Grace College set aside two days during the 86-87 school year for the sole purpose of prayer. These days not only gave the students a needed break from their studies, but also an opportunity to focus on the things of the Lord. These were times of inward searching to set life priorities straight and times of looking outward toward the needs of others.

During the spring semester Day of Prayer, our campus experienced heart revival through the powerful teaching of Mike Slater. He opened eyes to the Christian's task of being a "stretcher bearer." He showed many examples where God's people saw their responsibility to build up their brothers and sisters by eliminating the secondary issues. He shared how God does the saving of souls and the healing of sick, but how His people can meet the needs of those by whom they're surrounded. By sharing these truths, he opened eyes to the needs of others and called the students to be "stretcher bearers" to one another. The love of Christ has become more evident on Grace campus since the messages by Mr. Slater. The students are praying that this work that strengthens the family of Christ should continue to be seen daily in lives.

Beanie Bowl Time

The class members who did not take part in the game could be seen both sitting and standing along the sidelines to help cheer on their class teams. Freshmen could be easily spotted by their orange beanies that were worn during the week prior to the Beanie Bowl. This is a tradition on the Grace campus.

The Freshmen held the lead until the last few minutes when the Sophomores scored a touchdown to win the game. All in all, it was the most exciting Beanie Bowl held in years.

Working Students

While it is true that Grace students come to college to study and get an education for a future career, that is not the only thing they do on campus. Most students for one reason or another end up finding a job either on or off campus. Whether it be working in the cafeteria dishroom or working at a nearby clothing store, Grace students can be found doing many jobs.

Top: One of the most asked for jobs is that of working Alpha desk. Susie Cahill is one of the lucky ones this year.

Styles and Trends

Grace College may not be the fashion capital of Indiana, but it does have many unique trends. From long sweaters and t-shirts to tropical print shorts and wild sunglasses, students sport the latest look. Apparel ranges from hall shirts to ministry team dress, from creative hats to unique running shorts.

Hey, isn't this fun?!

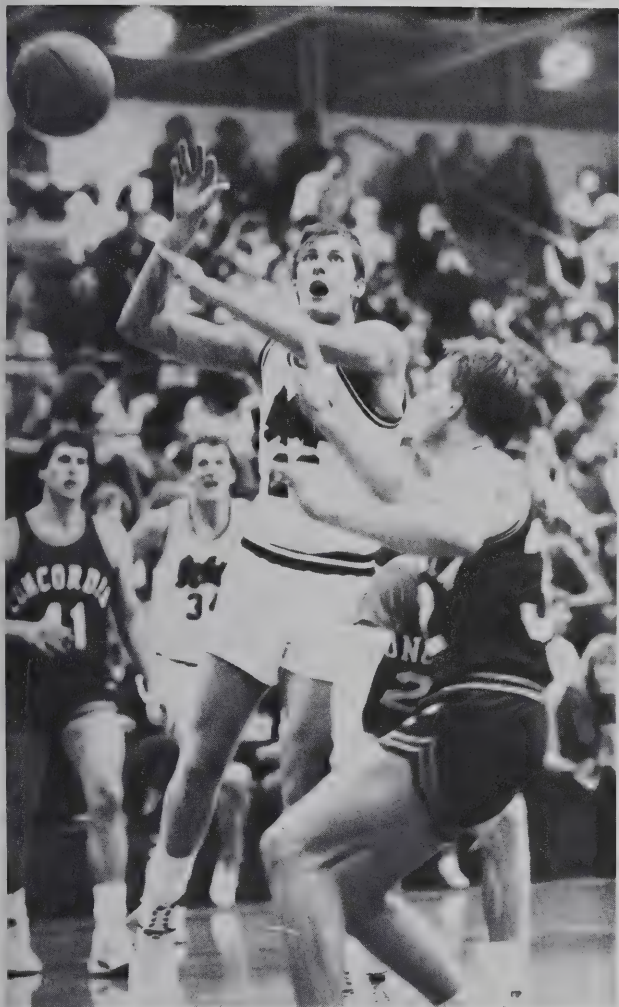

Freshman Tradition

Freshmen Initiation was quite an experience. Freshmen were woken up at 3:00 in the morning and marched out in front of the dorm. The girls learned their song, "We love you Beta Boys", that they had to sing to the guys. After they sang the guys got their chance to learn "We love you Alpha Girls", and sang it to the girls.

After the singing was over everyone was marched over to Alpha hill and the Freshmen had to slide down to the bottom where they got flour thrown on them. Next, they were taken to the soccer field to have oatmeal smeared on them. Actually, the whole ordeal would not have been so bad except for the fact that it was raining the entire time this was going on. The Freshmen had great attitudes about the whole mess, they made the best of the Grace tradition and it really turned out to be a fun time.

Jeanette Benjert, Melissa Garber and Shawna Nisley are going to have fun getting the oatmeal out of their clothes. It's suppose to be great for the hair.

The 1986-87 Lancer men's basketball team finished as NAIA District 21 runner-up with a 24-7 record. They copped their sixth straight Mid-Central Conference crown, dominating the league in steals. Coach Kessler won his 200th game, and 6'7" senior center Joe Graham was named MCC Player-of-the-Year for the third time, Murchison Award winner for being the top Christian college player in the country, and All-District 21.

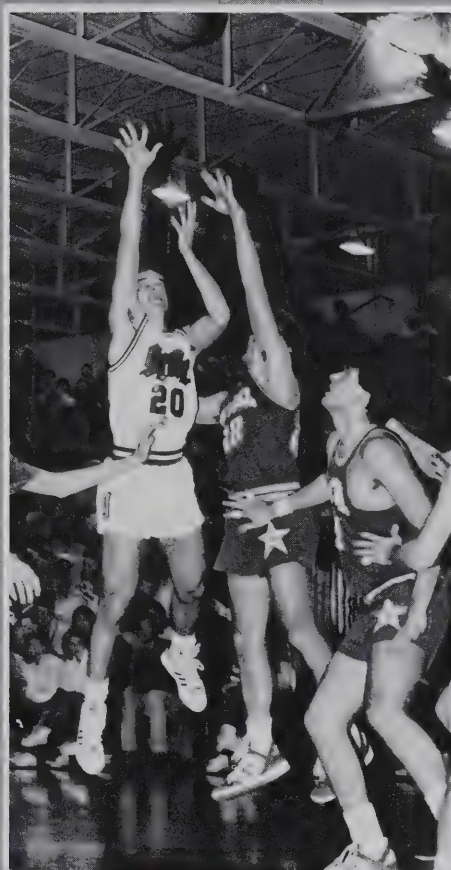

In the most exciting game of the season, Grace hosted the Taylor

Trojans for the District 21 championship before a jam-packed house. Some key Lancer turnovers allowed Taylor to take a lead late in the game, which forced Grace to foul. The Trojans made 10 of 12 free throws and the Lancers could not connect on their 3-pointers, allowing Taylor to win 79-69 and head to Kansas City. Following the tournament, in which Grace was seeded number one, Coach Jim Kessler summed up the year, "We enjoyed a very successful season, with a lot of (continued) mark. Lone senior Cheryl Lancaster and juniors Pam Mullinix and Dawn Comstock provided valuable leadership. They swept Grand Rapids Baptist, Bethel, and Taylor, crushing the three both times they met during the season. Coach Jerry Ryman's team gained a lot of valuable experience to help them be even more successful next season.

The Lancer cheerleaders had something to shout about. It was a year of transition for the program, but the squad let their JOY show. They shared what Jesus had done in their lives in a pep rally chapel at Mansfield, Ohio, Christian School. They supported the basketball team and encouraged our guys to compete for God and dismiss personal glory.

They also cheered for you, the audience, striving to let their energy and care spread to the crowd. The Grace squad had a joyful season of supporting the team and incorporating ministry at the same time.

The 1986 Lancer soccer team made some great strides, finishing 13-7. They were led by senior all-everything Mark Schindler, who was All-MCC, NAIA and NCCAA All-American, team tri-captain, and team MVP. Co-rookies of the year, Rich Firth and Drew Gano, contributed with most goals and assists and helping in nine shutouts respectively. The latter was the second highest in the history of Grace soccer. Firth, a freshman, was also Outstanding Offensive Player and NCCAA second team All-American.

Shutout!

Head coach Steve Grill and assistants Torrey Bauer and Doug Shenk established the team's lightning-like offense, which produced 54 goals compared to 22 for its opponents. The success of the '86 Lancers will help to lay the groundwork for an outstanding future.

The 1986 Lady Lancer Volleyball team survived adversity in many forms to post an 11-12 record and a third place finish in the Mid-Central Conference. Coach Julie Johnson and captains Pam Mullinix and Melody Jackson kept the team together despite numerous injuries that caused their numbers to dwindle. The team had several close matches, losing 2-3 on four different occasions, including an exciting match with Tri-State, where Grace won the first two and then dropped the last three 10-15, 8-15, 12-15.

Adversity

Sweeping Bethel and Grand Rapids Baptist on two different occasions, the Lady Lancers showed their colors.

Newcomer Deb Brownsberger earned Most Valuable Player, while June Fields and Pam Mullinix shared the Coach's Choice-Mental Attitude Award. The Lady Lancers overcame adversity and had a successful season as a team.

Grace's first inter-collegiate volleyball team was formed in 1973. The Varsity Lancerettes finished 11-3. The best overall record was in 1980, when the team was third in the state. In '78, the team experienced its worst season, winning one by forfeit.

Winners!

Grace fared well in the high stress sport of tennis, led by second year All-Conference player Andy Lewis and MCC Coach of the Year Mike Grill. They finished the season at 8-3, earning second in the conference and third in the NAIA District. First doubles partners Leon Brenneman and Lewis earned All-District honor, enroute to a 13-3 record. James Heinen copped Rookie of the Year, and Brenneman was Most Improved for the second year. The Lancers were winners.

Coach Dick Dilling also tabbed Craig Cameron as Rookie of the Year with an 82.6 average and Tim Koerten for Comeback of the Year with an 82.5 clip. Grace was well represented by its golf team on the links and greens.

Seniors

Threatened by lack of interest, Grace succeeded in fielding both men's and women's cross country teams. The Lancer men had a successful season, finishing fourth in the Mid-Central Conference and 15th at the NCCAA meet. Earning the Most Valuable Runner Award was Rick Lyons who finished first for Grace in every meet. Senior leadership saved the sport for the '85 season.

The women had four runners, one short of the required number to compete as a team. However, second year runner Vallie Miller was tabbed Most Improved by coach Jim Fulton. Transfer Maggie Walsh earned Most Valuable Runner. They will return all four women next year in hope of further improvement.

In 1972, the two year old Lancer varsity sport of cross country won the Mid-Central Conference. In 1976, Grace hosted the NCCAA meet. From 1982 to 1984, the Lancers finished fifth, fifth, and ninth at nationals. Christi Barlow, Karen Friend, and Brian Zellner paced the team in 1984. Barlow and Friend earned All-American honors with second and fourth places respectively at the NCCAA meet. Zellner also earned All-American. The Lancers have a rich heritage of good runners and teams.

Gary Hoover, Coach Jerry Price, Todd Davis, Don Flenar, Ron Stief, and Rick Lyons are members of the cross country team.

"I really feel like this team has the most potential that any Grace team has ever had." The Lancer softball squad lived up to Coach Phil Dick's words and finished with a 20-12 record. Pam Mullinix earned Most Valuable Player, leading the team in nearly every department, including a .398 batting average. Senior hurler Linda Kowatch marked up a 10-1 record and 1.76 ERA enroute to the Outstanding Pitcher Award and NAIA All-District 21. Sophomore outfielder Lynda Howdieshell was named Most Improved and Rookie of the Year, and Michelle Watkins was given the Captain's Award and Coach's Mental Attitude Award. The tradition of the Beta guys sitting together in a yell block continued. Themes from Beach Night to Dr. Davis Night aimed to support the basketball Lancers. Heritage

Just what is the Heritage staff, besides a group (small group) of dedicated students who spend long hours, look at peoples' faces, try to draw straight and even lines, write captions and copy and try to come up with catchy headings that rarely anyone reads, all while not going insane? Not a whole lot more — that about covers what the staff does.

This year the Heritage staff was under a great amount of pressure from, not only the editor, but also the students, the advisors (Coach Don Cramer and Nora Macon), and even Dean Snively. With the problems of last year's book and not meeting deadlines, the staff had the job of digging out and trying to salvage the book's reputation in the eyes of the faculty and students.

There were many long hours spent in putting this book together. Working on the yearbook staff is not a glorious job, like that of volunteering for Timothy Teams and Lighthouse. These students volunteer or pay for an hour or two of credit. The only remarks they hear about their job is from other students when a name is misspelled or they don't like a picture — in other words, complaints.

Being on yearbook staff is one of the behind-the-scene jobs that no one ever thinks about until the yearbooks aren't in when they should be. Then it's, "Where are the yearbooks?" or "When are they coming in?"

Take a good hard look at this book and notice all the work that has gone into it. Then take a minute and let the staff know if you liked it. They would really appreciate hearing that they did a good job and would feel like more than just an insane small group of students.

The Sounding Board

Some of the Sounding Board workers are: Ron Stief, Jerry Goshert, Mark Huntington, Scott Beam, Twyla Burger, and Amy Keith.

Reporting the news and views of Grace College students is the task of the Sounding Board. Editor Scott Beam says that the purpose of the newspaper is "to give mail to those who normally don't get it, to watch people get agitated at editorials, to make people popular by printing their picture, and to give at least a little news to a news-ignorant campus."

Some of the areas they try to cover involve school and community activities, overseas students, Who's Who students, lives of past Gracies, and fun ac-

The Social Activities Board is a branch of student government that promotes and coordinates social activities for the development and welfare of the students and the rest of the college community. Activities have includes films, contests, the Beach Party, weekend trips, skiing trips, Homecoming, concerts and games.

The purpose of S.A.B. is to provide fun and entertainment for the campus as well as interaction among the students and encouragement in building lasting relationships.

Kim Blackwell said, "It helped me to meet a lot more people." "The interaction has taught me a lot about myself and how to respond in different situations," added Susie Cahill. S.A.B. can be a unique opportunity to get involved while attending Grace. It is a lot of hard work but very fun and rewarding.

Student Senate is the legislative branch of student government. Its goal is to represent the student body in whatever manner is necessary. It is a mediator between the students and the faculty, staff and administration. It is designed to promote and recommend policies and actions which will benefit the student body and be a positive contribution to the Christian atmosphere of Grace. It also desires to build a relationship with the Warsaw community through participation.

Student Senate is responsible for booksales, the blood mobile, chapel four times a year, refrigeration rentals, Advent services, elections, student body scholarships, and other tasks. Some of the highlights of the 1986-87 school year have been Fall Fest, the community Christmas party, and singer/speaker John Fisher for the the chapel series. Senate has also been very active in the revision and review of the Christian Commitment. The group felt that the work done in this document is very important because it will affect the students of years.

Officers were: Todd Davis, president; Don Flenar, vice president; Diane Beck, secretary; Martha Thieme, treasurer; and Dean Bruce Barlow, advisor.

"Student Senate is an opportunity for students to make an important impact on the social and spiritual aspects of what we at Grace College look forward to being in the future."-Tim Caldwell

"Student Senate generates a real attitude of service combined with the spirit of fun. That's exciting to be a part of."-Stephanie Webb

"Senate is hot and jammin' in '87."-Chris Thifault

"Senate provides an excellent opportunity for Grace students to develop their leadership potential in preparation to fill their future roles as leaders in church and society."-Mark Huntington

"Student Senate is great people with great ideas to help improve our school."-Laura Dunstan

This year EMF is represented by Jeff Patton, Linda Beachem, Michele Farner, Jonathon Carey, and Scott Fetter.

The puppet team organized and practiced so it could perform for various churches and schools during the year. Mainly for children but enjoyed by all ages, these puppets and their performers bring a message of hope in their program. This year's team members were Paul Hickey, Bruce Brumm, Todd Thomas, Brian Larson, and Angie Kochenderfer.

Lighthouse Company, 1986-87

How can Grace College students reach out to members of the Warsaw community? Many opportunities are provided in the various ministry teams, one of which is Lighthouse Company. Composed of 15-20 college students, this team serves as a Big Brother/Big Sister program for underprivileged kids in the surrounding community. Each member is a "counselor" to a child; however, he is also a friend, a refuge for when he has no one else to turn to.

This year Lighthouse Company organized four retreats for the kids and emphasized weekly one-on-one visits and outings between counselor and child. Ken Anderson's Tree-House farm provided a new experience for some of the kids who had never been out in the country before; ponies, mules, and geese as well as a spacious barn created quite a unique atmosphere for the kids as well as perfect opportunity to enjoy God's diverse creation.

The three other retreats were all held on campus. Meals at the Lamp were fun for the kids and a definite "experience" for the counselors — Winona Lake ducks were fed enough popcorn to last them for quite awhile! But despite the routine for the counselors, the kids enjoyed staying in the dorm and the different life of a college student. Relationships were established that will not ever be lost, and that is what Lighthouse Company is all about.

Promise Players

The Promise Players is a team of students who present the gospel through drama and singing. Many of the churches they travel to enjoy this unique way of presenting the Bible and the team enjoys using its talents as a ministry.

This year the Promise Players traveled to California for their two week tour in December. They also went to many other churches along the way. Although they enjoyed the beautiful weather and beaches, they were really challenged by the fact that the people in California really need to hear the Word of God. This year's team members include: actors, Randy Flick, Chipp Crumm, Greg Singleton, Kellie Lake, Melinda Wray, Sonya Reschly, Sally Leedham, Joni Bach; vocalist, Troy Neahusan; and pianist, Deb Messner.

Grace Belles

The Grace Belles is a group that performs with a four octave set of handbells. This is the fourth year the Belles had the use of their own handbells — the gift of an admiring patron. The ladies performed locally during the holiday season at the Community Christmas Party. They are also planning on touring Chile in May, and they have many weekend concerts. The women feel it is their purpose to represent Grace College as women who glorify Jesus Christ and seek to love and serve Him through vocal and bell music.

Resounding Brass

Members of Resounding Brass 1986-87 are: (seated) Brenda Alt and Melanie Mahan; (standing) Rick Borema, Phil Yoder, Rod Nissley, Bob Buhler, Mike Beatty, Director Jim Shipley, Dennis Weaver, Keith Francis, Eric Zimmerman, Grant Starrett. These students represented Grace during the school year in many churches and schools.

Resounding Brass traveled extensively on the weekends and over breaks representing Grace College. Its unique repertoire of Christian and pop music made this group very versatile. During the year, many churches enjoyed the musical program and were blessed by the group's message.

As the group's members will relate, it's fun and very rewarding to travel on a team and see how God will use the message and music to touch people's lives.

SOUND INVESTMENT

Combining instrumental and vocal music, Sound Investment toured over spring break in Colorado and throughout the northwestern states, singing at churches, conferences, special concerts, and rallies. The team's break was not that of any normal traveling team this year. The group encountered many things while on the road to Colorado like snowstorms and road blocks. They also had an experience that would frighten anyone when coming across a wrecked car. The students involved in Sound Investment look at the organization as an opportunity to develop their communication skills, to improve their musical ability and to help them understand what ministry and encouragement really involves.

Along with these goals, this traveling group is given the chance to represent Grace College in various churches for informing and recruiting purposes.

The Grace College Concert Choir had the privilege of touring throughout Florida during the two weeks of Christmas break. The thirty-two member choir, under the direction of Professor Don Ogden, sang in over twenty churches, stayed in many homes, and even had the chance to lay on the beach in beautiful weather for four days.

During the second semester, the choir traveled to local churches and other churches every Sunday and ministered through songs. They also welcomed many new members into the choir for a total of 60 to sing in the Easter Musical, Handel's "Messiah".

Right: Some of the choir members soak up the sun on the beautiful Florida beaches.

Community Orchestra

Part of the Christmas Concert is given by a special violin group including Yang Xi and Stephanie Gould, graduates of Grace College.

The Community Orchestra, directed by Mrs. Ethel Anderson, is made up of Warsaw community members as well as Grace College students. It is a unique way to reach into the community and make friends and contacts.

The Orchestra performs a yearly Christmas concert at Rodeheaver Auditorium and various other concerts throughout the year. It is the only performance outlet for string players in the area.

Orchestra members practice many hours alone and together to produce the beautiful music. And people in the community enjoy hearing them perform.

Many people from the community come to listen to the performance.

Timothy Teams

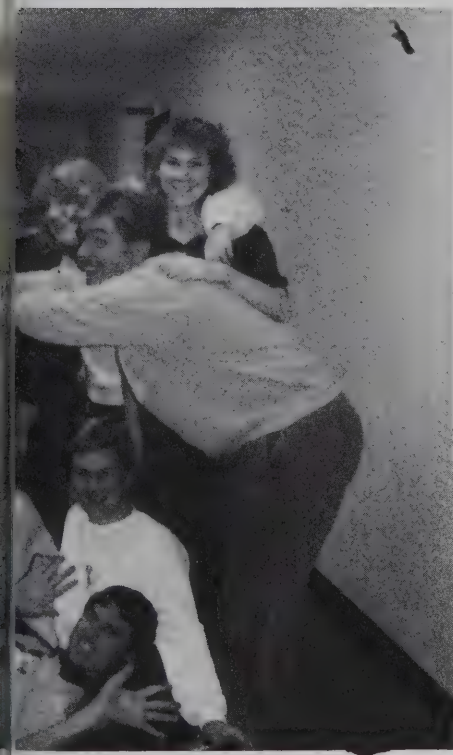

The Timothy Team program went through a transition process during the 1986-87 school year. Started in 1978, through the Grace Brethren Christian Education office as an outreach for Grace Brethren students in college, it ministered to youth groups in Grace Brethren Churches in Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana. This year it came under the supervision of Grace Ministries in Action and college students assumed more leadership. Lee Seese and Randy Flick led teams to Lima and Fairlawn, Ohio, respectively, in the fall. The teams built relationships with youth by teaching them practical ministry skills. Hopefully, the point was reached where the kids could be challenged specifically in their walks and lives for God.

In the spring, Randy led a team to Brookville, Ohio, and Eric Allebach headed up a team to Union, Ohio. Timothy Teams strive to serve Christ by serving kids.

In past years, there have been a number of teams that have gone to various states to minister to youth groups. In 1985, four teams went out from Grace. One of those teams was led by Steve Adriansen who was a member of the very first TT to travel.

Since their beginning, teams have gone to Akron and Columbus, Ohio, and Elkhart, Ft. Wayne, and Indian Heights, Indiana Grace Brethren Churches. Some of the past leaders have been Marshall Noriega, Lee Seese, Steve Adriansen, Jim Folsom, Rolly Ortega, and Brian Roseborough.

Art Club provides a place where artists can get acquainted and share experiences, interests, and expertise. It provides opportunities for using the art facilities and promotes art on campus and in the community in a Christian context. The exhibit that is highly anticipated by students is the Annual Juried Show, where the students enter their most prized pieces for an opportunity to be honored and win awards.

Reflections

The women's quartet Reflections is comprised of : (front) Sheena Kirchner, 1st alto; Janine Smith, 2nd alto; Debbie Davidson, 1st soprano/director; (back) Bethanie Tanner, 2nd soprano; Al Christenbery (sound technician), and Juanita Hartzler, pianist.

What started out as an idea tossed around at the dinner table in early fall turned into a year-long music ministry — Reflections. A few women with a lot of desire to sing for the Lord became the quartet. The group traveled on weekends to surrounding states, performed special music and sang at banquets in the Warsaw area, and went on a spring tour to the east coast.

The original group with Terrill Labuff and Marna Burnham was able to join Image in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and in chapel first semester. Second semester, when Janine and Bethanie joined the group, Reflections shared during the student leadership conference and in a chapel with Resounding Brass in addition to their weekend concerts. The women's repertoire included sacred and secular of contemporary and traditional styles. Most of the arrangements were original with Reflections.

The goal of the group was to reflect Christ's love in testimony and song. While striving for that goal, each member learned a great deal and became much closer to the Lord and each other as a result.

International Students

International students, or aliens as the government refers to us: to some people we are strange and unusual, but to others we are fascinating and unique. We are not aliens, rather, we are people just like the rest of you. We struggle in our studies, face other problems, miss our parents and friends from back home.

In spite of our differing perspectives, our goal and focus is hopefully the same. The bond we have in Christ is the bond that unites us. It transcends nationality and cultural differences. It is not important where we come from, but where our eternal destination is. That is what God is concerned about.

On behalf of the rest of the international students, thanks for a great year. To those of you in the student body who have befriended us, it's been much appreciated. I came to Grace in the fall, uncertain about the school, but thanks to the students and faculty alike, I've fallen in love with Grace.

Jail Team

Where would you expect to encounter men who have come to the end of themselves? Where would you go to interact with people who don't have any answers except that fate rules their lives? One such place that a few Grace students are penetrating is the Kosciusko County Jail.

Several Grace men have been going to the jail every other Monday night to spend a few hours with the prisoners. The evening basically boils down to playing basketball and having a short devotional with the men. Although the ministry is not in the spotlight here at Grace, the opportunity is exciting for anyone interested in touching the life of a down and outer.

International students are: Clive Craigen, Quinn Rayment, Daniela Meier, Hiroko Furo, Musa Asake, and Amanaki Tausalele.

The life of a person in jail is obviously not an extremely exciting existence. Their days come and go without any real meaning. By going into the jail hopefully an outlet for them is provided to share their problems. Unfortunately, they often would rather play basketball than talk about spiritual things.

Circle K Means Business!

Circle K members include Susan Takacs, Roxane Lotz, Anne Bortner, Paul Finley, Harold Schmoecker, Brian Snyder and (not pictured) Tim Alcorn and Jenny DeYoung.

This club involves mostly business majors, but at the same time is open to anyone interested. The main purpose of the group is to inform students about different aspects of the business world and to allow them to build relationships with community businessmen and also be of service to the community through various projects. Although the group got off to a late start during the second semester, some noteworthy guest speakers, such as Mayor Jeff Plank and Chuck Yeager, President of SYM Financial Corporation, made presentations. Under the sponsorship of Prof. Owens, a strong foundation was laid for next year's club.

"Circle-K is not a group of accountants, business majors, or computer people pushing buttons on a calculator. We are a group of people who want to see what the business world is like by having businessmen tell us about their specific field."-Paul Finley

GMA = Grace Missions in Action

GMA members are Bob Buhler, Dino Butler, Dennis Crumbly, Kevin Williamson, Jerry Goshert, Daron Butler, Darrin Williams, Sharon Diffenderfer, Robyn Crosby, and Jackie Gelsinger.

Another organization with which many students become involved is GMA Grace Missions in Action. Originally this was the group that started organizing various ministries on campus. Eventually the group was passed to area churches. The churches organized ministry groups.

Now GMA has started organizing the ministries again. Students asked that this be done so that they are representatives of Grace College. GMA is very busy during the school year.

Alpha Chi

Every year in a special service, Grace College's chapter of Alpha Chi initiates its new members. Alpha Chi is an honor society. Its members have demonstrated their eligibility through their excellence in scholarship and character.

Alpha Chi meets to encourage one another and for fun and fellowship. Besides looking great on a resume, Alpha Chi is another way to develop friendships and interaction.

11 Seniors Named To Who's Who

The votes are in. Eleven students have been chosen to appear in Who's Who in American Universities for 1987. These students and other nominees were selected and voted upon by the faculty.

Nominations for those to be included in Who's Who are not based only on academic standing. Other factors considered are service to the school and community and participation in activities. Their names will appear along with the names of students of other institutions of higher education from 50 state, the District of Columbia, and several foreign countries. by Scott Beam

On August 1, 1986, a large blue van was filled with an odd assortment of equipment and an even odder assortment of humans who, nonetheless, drove jauntily out of Winona Lake with their luggage loaded, their windows tinted and their hearts a-flutter. Their one year mission — to explore new states, to seek out new students in new civilizations, to boldly go where no (well, not many) Gracies have gone before.

"Warp speed, Mr. Young, let's see what the IMAGEPRIZE will do."
 "Aye, Aye, Captain Yocum."
 "Mr. Devereaux, plot us a course for the planet of not yet wildly supportive Grace types. Lieutenant Mitchell, send a message to Grace Schools Command informing them of our destination and Mr. Zapf, please calculate our arrival time and potential increase in the student population. Now then gentlemen, let's recruit!"

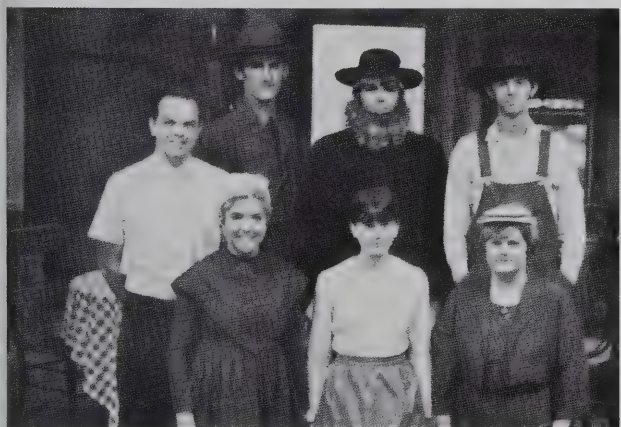

Jack Devereaux, Jim Mitchell, Mike Yocum, Ben Young, and Jim Zapf traversed the country in search of students to fill the hallowed halls of Gracedom. Their treks covered 35 states, over 50,000 miles and more than 300 concerts. In excess of 35,000 people heard IMAGE as they sang at churches, conventions, schools, camps, banquets, receptions, youth meetings, and conferences.

It is difficult to pinpoint the effectiveness of a group like this, due to many variables. But, interest in Grace is up, acceptances are up, and if IMAGE can claim even a small part of that, their mission was a success.

Events

The Student Activity Board sponsored various activities throughout the year. From rollerskating on Sunday night after church and the snow football game that was cancelled due to the lack of snow to the movies during finals week (just to take a short study break), the students were glad for many events.

Rip Your Roommate

Rip-Your-Roommate was an opportunity for many people to date the girl or guy of their dreams or of their nightmares. The date may have been a known person or he/she may have been a complete stranger. There was much anticipation and some fear that evening. Both the girls and guys were wondering with whom their roommate fixed them up. Activities for the night included games at the Lamp and a bonfire afterward.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet

This year's Jr.-Sr. Banquet took place the last weekend in April. The setting was one of ships, pier ties, and fish netting draped from the ceiling of Beyer Home. Pictures and refreshments started the night at the mansion. Students then traveled to the Ft. Wayne Marriott for a special dinner.

After the meal, the Juniors showed the traditional slides of the Seniors. This was followed by pianist, Tom Howard.

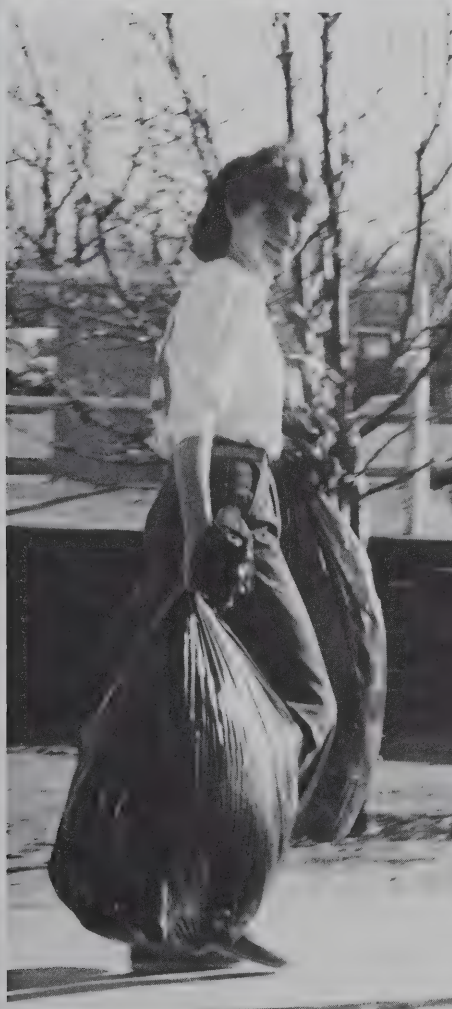

The couples gather at the refreshment table to chat with friends.

Beyer Home turns from home sweet home to the center of attention for the evening of the banquet.

A Black Tie Affair

Hi! Let me introduce myself to you. I am the sun. Now, I'm sure you're all wondering, "What is the sun doing in the yearbook?" Well, I thought that since I have such a perfect vantage point to witness all of the events, I should be the one to report on "A Black Tie Affair."

The whole weekend began Friday morning with Dr. Davis's inauguration. Rodeheaver was packed with students, faculty, and other guests. The ceremony was very formal and regal as we witnessed Dr. Davis's induction into the presidency.

Before I retired for the evening, I managed to sneak into the Coronation Ceremony. Wow, what a big production! Rev. and Mrs. Stevens received the honor of Parents of the Year; Dr. and Mrs. Kent were recognized for their many years of service to Grace Schools; and, of course, the Homecoming Queen was crowned. Dee Dee Dagwell was crowned Homecoming Queen and the Ohman Brass presented a concert for everyone's enjoyment.

I got up bright and early Saturday morning. Boy, there sure were a lot of things going on that day!

Breakfast, reunions, golf tournaments, and other games occurred all day. The annual Alumni basketball game took place with the 1986-87 team clinching another victory. The afternoon brought Concordia to the soccer field. I must say, it was a lot more enjoyable for me to watch the game directly instead of having to peer through clouds that whole time! And what a game to be able to see — Grace trounced Concordia 6-0!

The weekend finally began to wind down with the Homecoming Banquet. It was really fun to see everyone dressed up and having such a good time. But my ment. Image gave a fabulous and fun performance along with some student participation in drama and song.

With that end to an eventful weekend I drifted off to sleep. After finally being able to participate in everything, I'm really looking forward to next year. Who knows — maybe I'll start a tradition and be present for all the Homecomings! Written by Martha Thieme

Madwoman of Chaillot

The 1986 fall play production was Giraudoux's The Madwoman of Chaillot — a “comic fable set in the twilight zone of the not-quite-true,” in which good once again triumphs over evil. The cast included a number of colorful characters, such as the Madwoman of Paris, the Ragpicker, the Sewer Man, jugglers, street singers and a messenger girl on roller skates.

The play was a reminder of the joy and worth of life and of the importance of people rather than material wealth.

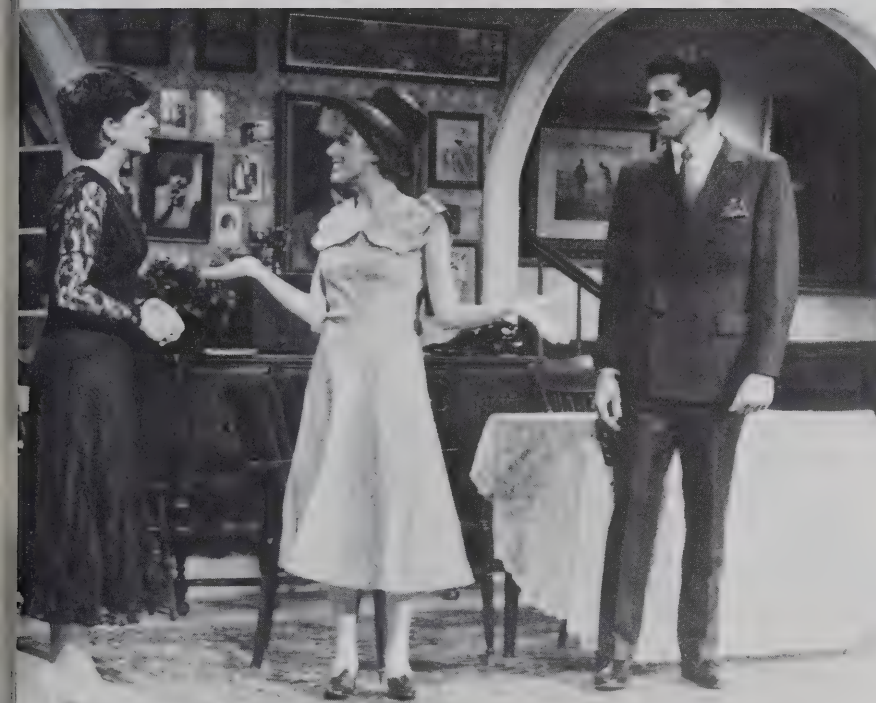

The Madwoman of Chaillot steals the stage as the horrified business men look on.

You Can't Take It With You

The 1987 Spring play, put on by the Communications Department, was "You Can't Take It With You," written by Kaufman and Hart. The play is set in the 1930s during the Great Depression. The action takes place in the home of Martin (Grandpa) Vanderhoff. With him lives his daughter, Penny, and her husband, Paul Sycamore; their daughters, Alice and Essie, and Essie's husband, Ed; Rheba and Donald and Mr. De Pinna, the iceman who came 8 years ago and decided to stay. The house is a place where you can do as you like with no questions asked. The message was an encouraging one of the "abundant life" that God has given us.

Senior Recitals

Liz Sleeper finishes up on her performance.

Flutist Renee Cripe performed not only for her recital but also during chapel.

Anyone who wants to be in G-Club must go through the traditional G-Club initiation. Now this may not sound like it would be too hard, but if you have ever heard rumors of this infamous tradition, one might have second thoughts of joining the club. Not only do the initiatees take part in chapel, but they also help carry the trays (as in all of them) in the cafeteria up to the dish room. Later in the evening these students entertain their fellow peers during an exam study break. This activity takes place in Alpha lobby where the guys must go through various challenges and tests before becoming a G-Club member.

The initiatees help the chapel band by using their drums while being alert for the two despised words — "air raid".

Drew Gano finds soccer a lot easier to deal with than the initiation.

Missionary Conference

The 1986 Grace Missionary Conference speaker was Dr. Russell E. Ebersole Jr. A graduate of Wheaton College and Wheaton Graduate School, Dr. Ebersole serves as the Executive Administrator for the Far East with the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism.

This year's conference theme song was the Moody Bible Institute class song of 1974, which fit appropriately. The song was "I Want to Grow in Jesus Christ my Lord."

Forty different seminars were held from which students could choose to attend. Topics ranged from missionaries on furlough to Grace students on summer mission trips.

One of the strong organizations on campus has been the missionary association. Beginning back in 1949 as the missionary prayer group, it was called the Foreign Missionary Fellowship from 1951-53. In 1953, the name was changed to World Missionary Fellowship. Students gathered to learn about the needs of missionaries and mission fields and to support them in prayer.

A Community Affair

Thursday evening, December 4, the students of Grace College celebrated an early Christmas with many needy families from the Warsaw community. This party, held at the Center Lake Pavilion, was the culmination of a month of hard work organized by Patty Reeves.

Students who were in charge of specific areas were as follows: publicity-Drew Gano, food-Jamie Botdorf, gifts-Beth Holiday, decorations-Tammy Summers, Deb Deboer, and Julie Serres, and transportation-Jerry Goshert.

Grace students collected a substantial amount of food and 2,400 gifts for the party.

The celebration at Center Lake ministered to both the needy families and the students. The gospel and love of Jesus Christ was demonstrated by students as they talked with parents, held children, and cared for those who came.

The evening's events concluded with a short Gospel message and the dispersing of gifts. The celebration of Christmas was a reality because God's spirit worked in people.

The evening cannot be described accurately. Who can explain the spirit of love? The heart of the holidays was the working hand of salvation and faith. It was the middleclass college students sitting and listening to the man with the tattoo whose breath reeked of alcohol. It was the dirty little kid listening to Promise Players and hearing something he had never heard. It was the joy of the people as they gave and received friendship. Most of all, it was the story of Jesus and how He touched the eyes and hearts of a group of people in a small midwestern town that most never notice. Written by Todd Davis

Has Christmas been forgotten? Does its meaning today live? Or is it simply selfish greed, And not God's love we give.

While we sample many tasty treats,
And sing our favorite songs, Does thoughts of Christ's great sacrifice,
Mingle right along?

As the children visit Santa Claus, And we trim our Christmas tree, Is Jesus proud we bear His name, Or does He watch sadly?

As Christmas day draws near, Let's not think selfish thoughts, But let's remember God's great gift, The Christ, people forgot.

Graduation 1987

In the weeks before May 16, an annual ritual began in the Billy Sunday Tabernacle. The doors were opened as well as the side windows to let the spring breeze carry out the musty smell of being closed up all year. The lights were checked and changed where needed, and the sawdust floor was raked.

On May 16, an annual event took place in the Tabernacle. The event — the Grace College and Seminary Graduation exercises. While excited parents, grandparents, husbands, wives, children, and other relatives and friends assembled, the graduates filed in. Suddenly the hard work was worth it. For most graduates, this day came after four years of study, while for others it was after many years of hard work. For all it was a time of rejoicing.

ers are just amazed that the day finally arrived. Right: Dr. Yoder leads in a round of applause.

That particular year the book was dedicated to Prof. Ogden for his varied contributions to our school and particularly for his outstanding testimony in the field of music.

A VERY SPECIAL YEAR

Birthdays, anniversaries, crises and victories all leave indelible imprints on the memory of an individual.

The 1986-87 school year at Grace College will always be for me a very special monument to God's faithfulness and a community's thoughtfulness.

As the new president of Grace Schools, I faced many uncharted waters and unknown landscapes, but moved across them with confidence because an army of supporting students, staff and faculty members marched with me.

This was a year of celebration. Grace Schools, which were founded in 1937, looked back on 50 years of unique and significant progress in education and spiritual impact. The dedication of godly professors, the solid support of thousands across the country and God's amazing intervention have combined to give us a rich heritage.

This was also a year of community building. Combined faculty meetings with the seminary, staff coffee breaks, "rocking chair" chapels, lunch with the students, dorm meetings and fireside chats all helped to bring us together as the family God intended us to be.

Administrative changes, new visions for ministry, impact in our community and a fresh commitment to spiritual life point to a very bright future under God.

This, indeed, was a very special year.

Dr. John J. Davis, President

The 1987 Heritage staff has tried to convey a theme of history. As one can see, much research and thought has gone into producing this book.

If not for the hard work of the staff and many other volunteers, this book would have never been finished. From the first thoughts of theme to the final typing of the copy, our thoughts revolved around a reflection of Grace.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank as many people as possible so you will know who has helped produce this book. Working hard as my staff were Kristy Medert, Heidi Snyder, Brian Weaver, Judy Davis, Emily Walters, Rich Barrett, Dennis Buller, and Lisa Pollard. There were also the many writers who wrote either spur-of-the-moment or preplanned articles: Martha Thieme, Patti Reeves, Clive Craigen, and Debbie Davidson. Randy Flick and Robyn Crosby lent us photos or negatives to fill our pages. Many helped identify photos including Deb DeBoer, Angie Ryman, Beth Luster, Lisa Buriff, and other Hotel girls. Last but not least, there were those who helped support me in those long nights before a deadline: Julie Schroeder, Lisa Yocum, Coach Cramer, Nora Macon, and Mrs. Coverstone. I know there are others whose names slipped by, but I still say "thank you."

Many people work together to produce a book. More people are needed to help with Grace's publications. Anyone and everyone can help.

I hope you have liked this year's Heritage. My only request is that you say thanks to the people who worked so hard to bring it to you.

Thank you so much,

Shannon Kelley
Heritage Editor
